"(1) No banking company shall pay any dividend on its shares until all its capitalised expenses (including preliminary expenses, organization expenses, share-selling commission, brokerage, amounts of losses incurred and any other item of expenditure not represented by tangible assets) have been completely written off.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in sub-section (1) or in the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956), a banking company may pay dividends on its shares without writing off - (i) the depreciation, if any, in the value of its investments in approved securities in any case where such depreciation has not actually been capitalized or otherwise accounted for as a loss; (ii) the depreciation, if any, in the value of its investments in shares, debenture or bonds (other than approved securities) in any case where adequate provision for such depreciation has been made to the satisfaction of the auditor of the banking company; (iii) the bad debts, if any, in any case where adequate provision for such debts has been made to the satisfaction of the auditor of the banking company."

Section 17: Reserve Fund

(1) Every banking company incorporated in India shall create a reserve fund and shall, out of the balance of profit of each year as disclosed in the profit and loss account prepared under section 29 and before any dividend is declared, transfer to the reserve fund a sum equivalent to not less than twenty percent of such profit."

h) The maximum amount of dividend payable will be calculated on the current year's profit adjusted for any extra-ordinary profits/ income and effect of qualification, if any, in the audit report. The actual dividend payout will be decided by the Central Board.

5. Circumstances under which the shareholders may or may not expect dividend
