Where the supply is derived from the three wire (AC or DC) or a poly phase system, the neutral pole of which is connected to earth either direct or through added resistance, the working pressure shall be deemed to be that which is maintained between the outer or phase conductor and the neutral.

The insulation resistance measured as above shall not be less than 50, divided by the number of points on the circuits provided that the whole installation shall be required to have an insulation resistance greater than one mega ohm.

Control rheostats, heating and power appliances and electrical signs may, if required, be disconnected from the circuit during the test, but in that event the insulation resistance between the case of frame work and all live parts or each rheostat appliance and sign shall not be less than that specified in the relevant IS specifications shall not be less than half a mega ohm.

The insulation resistance shall also be measured between all conductors connected to one or phase conductor of the supply and all the conductors connected to the middle wire or the neutral or to the other pole or phase conductors of the supply and its value shall not be less than that specified in sub clause(b)

On completion of an electric installation (or an extension to an installation) a certificate shall be furnished by the contractor countersigned by the qualified supervisor the installation was carried out. The certificate shall be in the prescribed form as required by the local Electrical Supply Authorities. One such recommended form is given in Appendix-B.
